Hague, September 4.

'BY Letters from Hanover of the 1st of 'this Month we learn, that Duke 'Ernestus Augustus has determined 'not to accompany the King his 'Brother to England, but to fix his 'constant Residence at Hanover: That 'twas then 'uncertain how and by whom his Majesty will 'order the Government of his Dominions in Germany to be administred; but that it would soon 'be known, because 'twas reckoned his Majesty 'would set out on Monday or Tuesday the 10th 'or 11th Instant N. S: That all the Ministers 'appointed to make the Voyage with his Majesty, 'were ordered to go before hither; to the end 'his Majesty, taking but few Attendants with 'him, may be able to make the Journey hither 'with the greater Expedition; and 'tis believed his Majesty will be but three Days in coming from Hanover to this Place. 'Tis advised from Utrecht, that about the Time of the late 'Queen of Great-Britain's Decease, the Plenipotentiaries of Spain thought fit to intimate, that 'the Court of Madrid might be induced to desist 'from those last Pretentions of theirs which had 'hindred the Exchange of the Ratifications of 'the Treaty of Commerce between England and 'Spain, provided England would give an Equivalent for them; and 'tis supposed the Equivalent 'the Spaniards have in their Minds, is, Gibraltar 'and the Island of Minorca.

'The last Letters from Berlin give an Account, 'that the King of Prussia had in his Passage taken a Review of some Regiments in the Neighbourhood of Stetin; and afterwards dispatched 'Order to the Governour of that Place, to send 'away all the Holstein Troops from thence to 'Stralsund, so that Stetin is now garrisoned by 'Prussians only: His Majesty arrived the 28th 'past at Marienwarder, and would proceed directly to Konigsberg to cause Homage to be done 'to him there by the States of Prussia, without 'Ceremony.

'Letters from Thorn of the 20th of August relate, that the Instructions and Propositions of 'the Murza or Minister sent by the Cham of 'the Tartars to the King of Poland, contain in 'Substance, 1. The most illustrious Porte and 'the Cham of the Tartars having condescended, 'out of Regard to King Augustus, to oblige Stanislaus to depart their Dominions without any 'Guard; and having hitherto forborn to send 'home the King of Sweden with a powerful Army; they expected a suitable Return, and like 'Marks of Friendship on the Part of King Augustus. 2. The Grand Signior, as well as Poland, being concerned to have an Eye to the 'growing Power of the present Czar, the Ottoman 'Court judge it necessary that King Augustus should 'come to an Accomodation with the King of 'Sweden. 3. In Case King Augustus seeks Evasions, and offers to refer this Matter to the great 'Diet of the Kingdom, the said Minister shall 'declare, that the Porte cannot place any Dependance on the Friendship of King Augustus. 4. 'Whereas there is a great Number of Saxon 'Troops still kept in Poland, who impoverish the 'Kingdom by Contributions and military Executions, the Porte will connive at it, provided those 'Troops be designed to act against the Muscovites; but in case that be not done, the Porte 'will have cause to take Umbrage at their remaining in the Kingdom. 5. The said Minister is 'expressly ordered to intercede in the most effectual Manner with King Augustus, for his Reconciliation with the Palatine of Kiow and his 'Adherents, who after having lived four Years 'under the Protection of the Porte, are actually 'on their Way to make their Submission to him. 6. When the Porte shall have received due Satisfaction on these Articles, they will restore the 'Ukraine to Poland.

Paris, Aug. 31. 'Tis rumoured, that in the Letters which the Court has received from the Marshal Berwick, a particular Account is given of the State of the Siege of Barcelona; among other things, that the Siege had been carried on with great Diligence and Vigour, but that the Befieged making a desperate Defence had repelled two general Assaults; that in those and other Occations divers Persons of Distinction and a great Number of Soldiers were lost; that the Troops were much fatigued and weakened by these destructive Services, by the Heat of the Weather, and other Hardships, and were so disheartened, that they could not be spirited on to a third Assault which was intended to be made; and that a speedy Reinforcement of Troops is absolutely necessary, to bring that Siege to an End successfully.

Hague, Sept. 7. 'We have certain Advice from 'Hanover, that the King has fixed Monday next 'the 10th Instant for his Departure from thence, 'and proposes to arrive here the Friday Morning 'following. 'Tis said, that his Majesty after he 'has been complimented by the Deputies of the 'States General on the Frontier, will be treated 'at Wikel in Overyssel by the Son of the late M. 'Opdam; that from thence he will proceed to 'the Earl of Albemarle's Seat at Voorst, and lye 'there; and that he will afterwards be received 'and complimented at Woerden by the Deputies 'of the States of Holland.
